Uses and Disclosures

How We Use and Disclose Your Protected Health Information (PHI)

The Rule allows us to use and disclose your and your covered family members' PHI for treatment, payment, or health care operation purposes and for certain other reasons. Here are examples of the major types of uses and disclosures we can make. These examples do not cover all possibilities. In all these examples, we refer to your own PHI and your covered family members' PHI as "your PHI."

Treatment: Although we do not provide health care, we may disclose your PHI to a health care provider if he or she tells us that this information is required for your medical care.

Payment: We use your PHI to determine your eligibility, make hospital care pre-authorization decisions, and to process your medical, dental, and pharmacy claims. We will continue to follow our practice of sending explanations of benefits (EOB) and other payment-related correspondence to the Plan member who is enrolled for coverage, even if the EOB concerns a covered family member. We may request additional information from your doctor or hospital to support the medical necessity of the treatment that you or your covered family member is receiving. This information may be in the form of all or part of your medical records pertaining to your medical claim or a letter from your provider outlining your treatment plan. We may disclose your PHI to other health plans for coordination of benefits purposes. We may disclose your PHI for our subrogation purposes. We may disclose your PHI to health care providers for their payment purposes.

Health Care Operations: We use and disclose your PHI for our health care operations purposes, including:

- 1) Quality assessment and improvement activities;
- 2) Reviewing the competence or qualifications of health care professionals, evaluating practitioner and provider performance, conducting training programs;
- 3) Medical review, legal services, and auditing, including fraud and abuse detection and compliance;
- 4) Business planning and development; and
- 5) Business management and general administrative activities, including management activities relating to privacy, customer service, resolution of internal grievances, and creating de-identified medical information or a limited data set.

We generally limit uses and disclosures for payment and health care operations purposes to the minimum necessary to achieve our purpose.

Parties with Whom We May Share Information About You

We share your PHI with our third-party business associates, such as our prescription drug benefit manager. Our business associates may use and disclose your PHI in order to provide for your coverage or services related to your coverage or to assist us with health care operations. We will have a written contract with the business associate containing provisions to protect your PHI consistent with this notice.

The Board of Trustees may use and disclose your PHI in connection with your claims, including disputed claims, and for other permissible purposes as described in this Notice.

When We May Share Your Information Without Your Authorization or Opportunity to Object

We may disclose your PHI to a family member, friend or other person to the extent necessary to help with your health care or with payment for your health care. We may use or disclose your name, location, and general condition or death to notify, or assist in the notification of (including identifying or locating) a person involved in your care. We may disclose necessary information to an authorized public or private entity (such as disaster relief agencies) that is coordinating such notification activities.

If You Are Present and Able to Agree or Object to the Disclosure of Your PHI

Before we disclose your PHI to a person involved in your health care or payment for your health care, we will provide you with an opportunity to object to such uses or disclosures if you are present. For example, if you are present with a representative who calls us on your behalf, we will ask to speak with you and obtain your permission before speaking with the representative about your PHI.

If You Are Not Present or Able to Agree or Object to the Disclosure of Your PHI

We may disclose only what is necessary to the person who is involved in your health care (such as a member of your family). We will limit these disclosures to claim status information unless you designate a personal representative following state law or submit an authorized representative form to us. We may disclose necessary information to an authorized public or private entity (such as disaster relief agencies).

Examples of Other Instances When We May Share Your Information WITHOUT Authorization or Opportunity to Object

Required by Law: We may disclose your PHI as required by law, but this information will be limited to only the relevant requirements of the law.

Public Health: We may disclose your PHI to a public health authority for the purposes of controlling disease, injury or disability.

Health Oversight: We may disclose your PHI to a health oversight agency, such as government agencies that oversee the health care system and government benefit programs.

Food and Drug Administration (FDA): We may disclose your PHI to the FDA to report adverse events, such as a product defect or recall.

Legal Proceedings: We may disclose your PHI if you are involved in a lawsuit or dispute. We may disclose your PHI in response to a subpoena, if it is supported by a court order or if efforts have been made to tell you about the request or to obtain an order protecting the information requested.

Law Enforcement: We may also disclose your PHI, so long as applicable legal requirements are met, for law enforcement purposes. These law enforcement purposes include: (1) legal processes and as otherwise required by law, (2) limited information requests for identification and location purposes, (3) pertaining to victims of a crime, (4) suspicion that death has occurred as a result of criminal conduct, and (5) in the event that a crime occurs on our premises.

Research: We may disclose your PHI to researchers as long as the researchers have established protocols to ensure your privacy.

Military Activity and National Security: We may disclose your PHI if you are a member of the Armed Forces in order to determine your Department of Veterans Affairs benefit eligibility or for activities deemed necessary by appropriate military command authorities. We may disclose your PHI to authorized federal officials in the interest of national security or intelligence.

Workers' Compensation: We may disclose your PHI to comply with workers' compensation laws.

Secretary of HHS: We must disclose your PHI to the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services to investigate or determine our compliance with the Rule.

Other uses and disclosures that have not been described in this notice will only be made with your written authorization. We will not use or disclose your PHI for marketing purposes or disclose your PHI in a manner that constitutes a sale of PHI without your written authorization. We have no plans to seek your written authorization for these purposes. Note the new rule requires a statement about these two uses and disclosures even though you have no intention to engage in these practices. That's why I suggest adding the second sentence which is not mandatory.

You may authorize us to use or disclose your PHI for your own reasons. You will need to give us a completed authorized use and disclosure form. If you give us an authorized use and disclosure form, you may revoke it in writing at any time. Your revocation will not affect any use or disclosure permitted by your authorization while it was in effect. To request an authorized use and disclosure form or to revoke an existing authorization, use the Contact listed at the end of this Notice.

Please understand information that you authorize us to disclose to third parties may no longer be protected by HIPAA and could be redisclosed without further authorization from you.

Individual Rights

These are your rights with respect to your PHI and a brief description of how you may exercise these rights. The individual who is the subject of the PHI has the right to use these rights unless he or she has a personal representative. In that case, the personal representative can use the rights. A personal representative for an adult or emancipated minor must be designated in accordance with state law (e.g., a power of attorney). The personal representative for an unemancipated minor is a parent, guardian or other person with authority to make health care decisions for the child. Parents and legal guardians generally are considered the personal representative of their unemancipated minor children except in certain circumstances described in the Rule that we must follow. Please inform us if you have an agreement with your child to respect his or her health care privacy. Except in certain states, a person is an adult at age 18 and entitled to their own privacy rights, even if they remain covered as a family member. We reserve the right to refuse to accept personal representative designations in certain circumstances described in the Rule. In this section, we use the word “you” to refer to the individual who is the subject of the PHI or his or her personal representative.

Explanation of Your Individual Rights

The Rule provides certain rights to you as an individual as it relates to your PHI. Here is a brief description of these rights.

Access: An individual has the right to request to inspect and obtain a copy of their protected health information in a designated record set, with limited exceptions. All requests must be made in writing to the Contact listed at the end of this Notice. The requested information will be provided in the form or format that is readily producible and agreed to by the individual and us, usually within 30 days of receiving the request. We may impose a reasonable cost-based fee for copies. A summary of the requested information may be supplied, provided the individual agrees in advance to such a summary or explanation. If the individual requests a copy or agrees to a summary or explanation of such information, then we may impose a reasonable cost-based fee for copying, including the cost of supplies and labor for copying, postage and preparing a summary or explanation.

If we deny the request for access to the PHI, then we will provide the individual with a written statement explaining the basis for the denial, a statement of the individual’s review rights if applicable as some PHI has unreviewable grounds for denial as specified by the Rule) and a description how the individual may file a complaint with us or the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services.

Accounting of Disclosures: An individual has the right to request an accounting of disclosures of PHI for purposes other the categories of disclosures identified below. We will provide the date of the disclosure, the name of the person or entity to which the information was disclosed, a description of the PHI disclosed, the reason for the disclosure and certain other information.

The following are not included as part of accounting of disclosures:

- 1) Disclosures to an individual or an individual’s personal representative;
- 2) Disclosures that the individual or his or her personal representative authorized;

- 3) Disclosures that were made to an individual involved in your care.
- 4) Disclosures related to national security and intelligence.
- 5) Disclosures that were made for treatment, payment and health care operations;
- 6) Disclosure that we made to law enforcement officials or correctional institutions regarding inmates and
- 7) Disclosures that were made as part of a limited data set.

There are certain instances that we may deny your request or temporarily suspend your right to an accounting.

No fees will be imposed to the individual for any request received within a 12-month period. We may impose a reasonable cost-based fee for each subsequent request for the same individual within the same 12-month period provided that we inform the individual in advance of the fees. All requests are to be made in writing to the Contact listed at the end of this Notice. The request may be for disclosures made up to 6 years before the date of the request.

Restriction Requests You can ask us to contact you in a specific way (for example, home or office phone) or to send mail to a different address. We will consider all reasonable requests, and must say “yes” if you tell us you would be in danger if we do not. All requests are to be in writing to the Contact listed at the end of this Notice. The request must include (1) the information that is to be limited for use and disclosure; and the information limited for use and disclosure. We are permitted to end the agreement of the requested restriction by providing the individual with written notification.

(2) how you want

Amendment: An individual has the right to request that we amend their PHI held in a designated record set. The request must explain the reason why the information should be amended. We may deny the request if we did not create the information that is to be amended or for certain other reasons. If we deny the request, we will provide you with a written explanation within 60 days of your request. You may respond with a statement of disagreement to be appended to the information you want amended. If we grant the request to amend the information, then with the individual’s agreement, we will notify relevant parties of the changes and to include the changes in any future disclosures of that information. All requests for amendments are to be made in writing to the Contact listed at the end of this Notice.
